Once was a blind man..
Leading a bunch of other blind men..

Some asked 'where are you all going?'
One said, 'To see a magic show'
Another said, 'To a marriage party'
Some one yelled, 'No! to a super mall'

Once was a blind man..
Leading a bunch of other blind men..

Did the leader know where he was going?
Neither he knew!
But all sincerely followed him..
Hoping they will reach some where..

Once was a blind man..
Leading a bunch of other blind men..

Alas, alas! there came a glitch..
No one could watch
Before they could catch..
All fell in the ditch!

They thought they will go somewhere!
But went no where!

Once was a blind man..
Leading a bunch of other blind men..

In this world, such men are plenty, and plenty!

Most of the population are fooled, and blinded by ignorance..

Every one needs help and support.

Everyone, including the basic living being need help and support..

Sastras say that fallen souls are ignorant and they need HELP..

Who can take us to Krishna?

Kiba vipra, kiba nyasi,

Yei Krsna-tattva-vetta,

[Whether one is a brahmana, a sannyasi or a sudra -- regardless of what he is -- he can become a spiritual master if he knows the science of Krsna.]

Kanaka kamini pratistha baghini
Chariyache jare sei to vaisnava
Sei anasakta sei suddha bhakta
Samsara tatha pay parabhava ... (Vaishnava Ke)

[One who has been abandoned by the tigress of money, women, and fame is truly a Vaishnava. Such a soul alone is truly detached; such a soul is a pure devotee. The illusory creation of repeated birth and death is defeated before him.]

In the age of Kali, intelligent persons perform congregational chanting to worship the incarnation of Godhead who constantly sings the names of Krishna. Although His complexion is not blackish, He is Krishna Himself. He is accompanied by His associates, servants, weapons and confidential companions. [Srimad Bhagavatam 11.3.32]
